Abstract: The Plant Protection Act (PPA, 7 U.S.C. 7701 et seq.) authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to restrict the importation, entry, or interstate movement of plants, plant products, and other articles to prevent the introduction of plant pests into the United States or their dissemination within the United States. In accordance with the regulations, sand pears from China may be imported into the United States under certain conditions to prevent the introduction of plant pests into the United States. The regulations require the use of information collection activities, including testing and certification of propagative material, operational workplan, production site and packinghouse registration, inspection of registered production sites, investigation for recertification of production sites, packinghouse tracking system, packinghouse inspection, handling procedures, labeling of cartons, trapping system, recordkeeping of trap location, packinghouse notification of pest detection, mitigation measures upon Bactrocera dorsalis detection at production sites and packinghouses, cold treatment facility audits and monitoring, notice of arrival, emergency action notification, and phytosanitary certificates.

The purpose of this notice is to solicit comments from the public (as well as affected agencies) concerning our information collection. These comments will help us:
